

Press Release - Immediate Publication
Mai 23rd, 2016, Paris

The 7th edition of the Festival Ciné Alter'Natif will take place from October 7th to October 15th in Paris, Nantes and La Turballe

Le Festival Ciné Alter'Natif is back with a large selection of films representing the diversity of recent Native American productions. This year we will be screening 40+ films, all as intriguing, brilliant, and captivating as the next, most of which will be making their debut in France. The films are all subtitled for the occasion as well.

The opening night of the 7th edition will be held Friday, October 7th at the Centre Culturel Canadien of Paris. Sonia Boileau, a young director out of Québec (Mohawk Tribe), will be showing her first feature length fiction film "Le Dep" which has had great success in multiple international film festivals.

The Festival Ciné Alter'Native is one of a kind in Europe. Founded in 2009, it's the only European film festival completely dedicated to American Indian films and focused on celebrating the latest works from Indigenous film makers across the American continent of all genres and styles. The festival is driven by curiosity and the desire for cultural immersion.

Le Festival Ciné Alter'Natif is organized by a team of volunteers from De La Plume à L'Ecran, an association based out of Nantes that greatly values bringing Native American film to light, and sharing it with the general public of France.

To learn more about our program, and to see highlights from last years' festival, check out our online "2015 memory book": http://delaplumealecran.org/IMG/pdf/album_souvenir_2015.pdf

Competition and Awards:

Youth Choice Award: Best short film, chosen by a jury of middle and high school students.

Audience Choice Award and Best Animated film Award

Festival venues

PARIS • Centre culturel canadien

NANTES • Cinéma Le Concorde • le DIX

LA TURBALLE • Cinéma Atlantic

Full programm to be released this summer.

Contacts presse

- Christian Véron : communication_fcan@delaplumealecran.org - 06 11 77 13 64

- Actualités, programme... : www.delaplumealecran.org